Germans Apparently Still Advancing in South, However

By International News Service

PARIS, Dec. 22.—A flat declaration that the German onslaught westward through Belgium had been "blunted and slowed down" was made today by an American staff officer who said Nazi efforts to break through Yank lines to the north had been frustrated.

The statement was reported by International News Service war correspondent Frank Conniff, with American forces in Belgium, in a dispatch filed at 9 a. m.

Duck Hunter Rescued From River; Boat Was Ice-Bound

A duck hunter got his boat wedged in the ice this morning about 400 feet off shore opposite the plant of Paterson Parchment Paper Company.

Frank Rosenberger, when hauled ashore, appeared not to have suffered any ill effects other than to be extremely cold.

Rosenberger's boat leaked, and between trying to keep his boat moving and bailing out the water, he had quite a busy time. He was out about three hours.

Units of the Lower Bucks County Marine Association were called and launched a boat from the concrete pier over a water intake of the Paterson company. When the two boats got within near distance of the intake, ropes were thrown to them and the boats were pulled in to shore.

Rosenberger was taken into the boiler room of the Paterson company and treated for exposure.

POSTWAR FLYING

When people seek to ascertain what the postwar world will be like, it is fitting that they turn to scientists for the information. Yet, famous scientists do not as a rule portray a postwar world astonishingly different from that of today.

Dr. Robert A. Millikan, the noted physicist and Nobel prize winner, recently expressed the belief that the war had not accelerated any advance in science, adding that such advances would have come anyway and more rapidly without the war. But Dr. Millikan did say that he expects short wave radio and aviation to effect great changes in postwar life.

That aviation may push the suburbs of the cities far from their present setting, resulting in great population shifts, is a possibility now occupying the minds of real estate operators. They expect the airplane to revolutionize postwar land values.

It is reported that questions which a few years ago would have seemed fantastic are now being asked in all seriousness, in such practical quarters as mortgage departments of banks—such queries as: "How will private aircraft affect population shifts? Will air travel mean new airport business centers such as have developed around railroad terminals?"

It is pointed out that the presence of 3,000,000 men in the air forces and 2,000,000 in the aircraft industry will insure numerous enthusiasts for personal flying. The number of men familiar with flying and with airplanes is now greater than the number familiar with auto driving at the end of the First World War.

William A. M. Burden of the United States Department of Commerce has estimated that 500,000 privately-owned craft will be in the air five years after the war. This ties in with the prediction of Joseph Genting, Jr., of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, who estimates that 7,000 landing fields will be needed within ten years. Looking to immediate needs, the Civil Aeronautics Administration has prepared for submission to Congress a program for 3,000 new airfields and improvements for 1,625 existing facilities.

That the helicopter in the hands of private owners may result in new suburbs far from the cities has been suggested many times. In the commercial transportation field, Arthur W. Hill of the Atlantic Greyhound Corporation is quoted as saying that bus interests are planning helicopter service in 1,000 towns and cities.

The man who formerly sent boxes of cigars to his friends for Christmas is numbered among the troubled shoppers this year.

One wonders how the Japs who are sitting out the war on those by-passed islands will explain it to their ancestors.

There was a time when citizens stood in line for a bowl of soup. Now it's cigarettes.

Sportsmen's Briefs

By JOE ELBISON

AN OPEN LETTER TO SANTA CLAUS . . .

Dear Santa:—
On behalf of all the sportsmen, both young and old, in Bristol, in Bucks County, in Pennsylvania, we ask your indulgence in reading this list of what we would like to have, and what is in our hearts, this Christmas.

We are thankful for the splendid way you have treated us in past years, and we are confident you will do all in your power to fulfill our wishes for Christmas, 1944.

We know that a new gun or a new fishing reel will not grace our stockings this year. We don't expect a new pair of rubber hip boots, a new outboard motor, a new pair of binoculars, or any one of a hundred other items that delighted the hearts of sportsmen on Christmas Day a few years ago. We know the war must be won and the metal and other vital materials that went into these sport items is now being used to make ammunition and guns.

Now, Santa, here is what we would like to have this Christmas, and we think you can help us out, even though you don't "deliver" on Christmas day:—

The continuation of every conservation program in progress before the war, or started since the war.

A cleaner, clearer, fresher Delaware River. This goes for every other polluted stream.

Good hunting and fishing, next year for those of us who are left to enjoy them.

A better understanding of Nature's outdoor heritage, so that we may enjoy even more fully our hours spent on the streams and in the fields.

The continued good fellowship which sportsmen have always enjoyed.

And last, but not least, see if we can't hurry things along so that next year we can enjoy the companionship and comradeship of those of our fraternity who are serving on foreign shores and distant ports the world over.

HULMEVILLE

The Women's Auxiliary of Grace Episcopal Church entertained at a Christmas dinner party on Wednesday evening members of the church choir. The affair was held at the Green Light Restaurant, Bensalem Township, with covers arranged for the following: Mrs. Robert Brien, Mrs. Lewis Barton, Mrs. William Codling, Mrs. Stanley Buckman, Mrs. Richard A. Hopkins, Mrs. Milton Stevens, Mrs. Louis Goll, Mrs. Richard Dunlap, Mrs. George Zare, Mrs. Charles Kelch; the Misses Ida Roberts, Anna and Katherine Potenborg, Irene Hopkins, of Tumerville; Mrs. William Walsh, Mrs. Walter Miller, Mrs. Ernest Epler, Mrs. Darrah, Miss Marian Epler, Parkland; Mrs. Raymond Cross, Langhorne; Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Norman S. Straw, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Timson, of Midway; Mrs. Alfred Holden, Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. Pearson, and Mrs. MacCauley, of Newville. The menu consisted of:

Grapefruit, soup, turkey, mashed potatoes, peas, celery, rolls, coffee, ice cream. A gift exchange by the "Pollyannas" was a feature of the evening.

Mrs. William VanDuzer and Miss Marian Brien, of Mt. Airy, will be entertained on Christmas Day by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brien, Sr.

Nazi Onslaught Has Been Blunted and Slowed Down

The Conniff story was received shortly after supreme headquarters extended the news blackout to cover virtually the entire western front as the titanic battle of Arneux Forest raged unabated and unconfirmed reports said that American and German armored forces were battling in the outskirts of the Belgian communications center of Liege and the city of Luxembourg.

Latest reports encouraged the belief that the situation on the north of the area where the German offensive punched a 50-mile gap in American First Army positions was a little better, but the Germans apparently still were advancing in the south in the Luxembourg area.

With American armor and infantry forces slashing repeatedly at the flanks of the corridor smashed westward into Belgium and Luxembourg by the enemy, the Germans were reported sending in additional reinforcements of men and material in an effort to exploit their break-through.

An official headquarters communiqué, relating the situation as of noon Tuesday, placed the German spearhead on the north within about 18 miles south of Liege, while one German force in the south moved to just east of Wiltz, above Luxembourg and within 48 miles of the French city of Sedan.

Low clouds and rain still restricted the Allied air forces from lending full weight to the embattled American ground forces combatting the Nazi drive.

Guam Hammered Into 'Little Pearl Harbor'

the tilt of a mighty dagger aimed at the heart of Japan. The blade is the nearby former Jap stronghold of Saipan, about 160 miles to the north.

Saipan's green hills and fields were a pleasant sight from the plane after the barren coral whiteness of Eniwetok. It was hard to believe that only a few months ago the peaceful-looking island teemed with Jap fighting men.

And the island wasn't quite so peaceful as it looked. Marines still were prodding into caves in the hills in search of Japs, and in a three-day drive wiped out more than 200.

Most heartening sight on Saipan were the scores of B-29 Superfortress bombers which have been giving Japan a taste of the destruction to come during the next few months.

Occasionally the Japs attempt a sneak raid on Saipan but do little or no damage. The enemy knows what Saipan means to him in American hands, but he is helpless.

Guam looked even more peaceful than Saipan when the plane circled for a landing. On close inspection, however, one could see the piles of rubble that marked the site of the capital, Agana.

The native Chamorros, who are American nationals, were almost happy, however, to trade their homes for freedom from the Japanese.

Not a single one of the 1,200 homes and buildings in Agana was left unscathed by the American bombardment and bombing prior to invasion day.

The natives fled to the hills and cheered the American fleet and carrier planes as they blasted the town into ruins. Chamorro leaders now are making elaborate plans to build a modern city on the site as soon as materials are available.

Some families already are living a makeshift existence in the shells of their former homes. Huts are being erected for others near the town.

Details of American construction work and plans on Guam cannot be told, but it is no secret that the island rapidly is becoming a formidable stronghold which should play an important part in the war to crush Japan and in the peace to follow.

Trucks, jeeps and road machinery roar over the island roads from dawn to dusk and even into the night. Runways are being built or extended.

Although Guam and Saipan are not as far west as the Philippines, they are closer than the latter to Tokyo. Guam is about 1,400 miles from Tokyo; the Philippines are 1,700.

Guam and Saipan should play a vital role in the final assault to crush Japan, but it must be remembered that they are more than 4,000 miles from San Francisco at the narrowing end of the supply funnel.

It must be remembered that it takes from five to ten tons of cargo, equipment and supplies for every soldier who hits the beach in an invasion. These supplies include 700,000 different items, from buttons, needles and thread to tanks, planes and even locomotives.

If the fighting is prolonged, the supplies must continue to flow in an unending stream to assure success of the operation.

Guam and Saipan are symbols of America's domination of the Pacific, but military and naval leaders in this area will tell you that the real task of smashing Japan is just beginning.

mined in part by the types of insects found in the water.

Dr. Maughan also pointed out that many insects are enemies of man, particularly those insects which are destructive to agricultural crops. Other insects are harmful to orchards and timber, others are destructive to cattle, and still others carry germs which result in diseases fatal to man, including yellow fever, malaria, Rocky Mountain fever, etc.

In conclusion the speaker pointed out that a continuous chemical warfare is going on against the destructive insects. Experiments are being conducted every day in the development of suitable agencies to combat these insects.

Some organizations and individuals make donations to the treasury, the result being that with other remunerations at the canteen the project has been able to operate quite well financially. In a recent letter sent to organizations the groups were asked to aid by sponsoring the canteen on a certain night and to provide hostesses, etc. It was also mentioned that any donations would be gratefully accepted. Thus no door-to-door solicitation has been necessary.
